BLUE SPRINGS PUBLIC ART COMMISSION
TEMPORARY PUBLIC ART EXHIBITION

2013

EVLOVE JOHN E. BANNON

Artist Statement
The theme of Evlove is very appealing to me. All of my work incorporates this concept because I feel it is the role of the artist to present new ways of seeing the world in order to inspire positive ideas about our life and our future. I chose the name "Evlove" which is the exhibition theme spelled backwards.

John E. Bannon
Boston, Mass.

MOVING THE STARS E. SPENCER SCHUBERT

Artist Statement
"Moving the Stars" takes the very serious proposition that every action has a reaction, and views it through the lens of a whimsical gesture. The piece is a simple musing on the idea that every gesture, no matter how small, has an impact on the universe.

E. Spencer Schubert
Kansas City, Mo.

TURN AROUND GEORGIANNA KRIEGER

Artist Statement
"Turn Around" is about the dizzy connection between today, tomorrow and yesterday. She is giddy joy and a spirit of hope and the sadness of change and loss along the way. She is spinning in the past, spinning in the present, spinning in the future. As the sweep of her arms billows out in the wind, items from her past and future fall into the weeks around her.

Georgianna Krieger
Oakland, Calif.

FORTITUDE III MARK KRUCKE

Artist Statement
"Fortitude III" was made to represent strength and courage in our continuously changing world. I was able to follow a mathematical formula of a spirula to make the stem and overall shape of the leaf. I chose a spiral shape for the stem because it is one of humanities oldest symbols, it represents eternal change, new beginnings, renewal and hope for the future.

Mark Krucke
North Carolina
